High academic standards and well-being for all students

European School Copenhagen is committed to maintaining high academic standards across all levels while fostering student well-being and resilience as essential conditions for learning and personal growth. Through strong collaboration among staff and management, we create a learning environment that promotes academic ambition, emotional strength, social development, and a shared sense of responsibility for success.

Sustainable development

European School Copenhagen works systematically toward sustainable development across environmental, educational, and organisational areas. Sustainability across these areas means that we are committed to making responsible, future-oriented decisions that support stable learning conditions, effective operations, and responsible resource use. We work to minimise our environmental impact through responsible use of energy and resources while fostering environmentally responsible behaviour in the school community.

European foundation in a global community

European School Copenhagen is a European School that emphasises education rooted in European languages, cultures, and democratic values while equally embracing its role as a diverse international learning community. We recognize the necessity of preparing students to become responsible global citizens who engage democratically and contribute positively to the world. We reinforce our European identity through active engagement with other European and international schools, institutions, projects, and holidays.

A distinctive international school

European School Copenhagen aims to position itself as a distinctive and leading international school in Denmark by delivering a unique European education grounded in multilingualism, democratic values, and global awareness. We prioritise student voice, participation, and active citizenship as central principles, ensuring students play a meaningful role in shaping our international school community. We pursue strategic partnerships and community engagement where they strengthen learning, student opportunities, and the school's visibility, supporting both our international profile and our local relevance in Copenhagen and Carlsberg Byen.
